Dick McGlynn. The Russians put together a potent scoring attack for the first two periods, heading on to a 13-3 victory in the opening game of the World Cup Tournament.

U.S. Hockey Hopes

Falls, Minn., admits he was surprised when asked to join the club.

"I hadn't anticipated it, but I'm sure happy to be here," said Curran a 5-foot-8 defender noted for his rapid reactions.

Williamson explained he chose Mike because he felt the international competition against such strong squads as Russia, Czechoslovakia and Sweden demanded quickness and experience in the nets.

Tim Regan, a product of Boston College, and Peter Sears of Oswego, N.Y., State, are the other goalies available.

Neither of the latter has had international experience, while
